

Acrofacial dysostosis of Nager and ocular abnormalities

Acrofacial dysostosis of Nager is a little known hereditary syndrome in which the findings of mandibulofacial dysostosis are associated with defects of the limbs. The present case showed other abnormalities including the Stilling-Turk-Duane syndrome, conductive deafness and ptosis of the transverse colon.

Key words: acrofacial dysostosis; Stilling-Turk-Duane syndrome

For more information please email us info@michaelsetzen.com